1. THE CURRENT OPERATION

The current operation can range from the weekly ARES Information Net, a local area exercise, a wide-area exercise or an actual event. In any case, there is usually printed material provided to give us operational mission specifics. The guidance provided is to be used in conjunction with the general instructions contained in this Operating Aid.

The information can take the form of an Incident Command System (ICS) Incident Action Plan (IAP) with all the supporting ICS-series forms, an Exercise Plan, Operation Plan, Letter of Instruction, or other formats. In any case, the information provided for the current operation should be filed in this tab for the duration of the event.

After the event, the material should be removed from the binder making it ready for the next operation.
